HABITAT

BEYOND THE WALLS, A WORLD WAITING TO BE TOLD. A STORY TO INVENT, STITCH BY STITCH.

From buzzing megacities to remote cabins, from ever-moving cities to peaceful retreats in nature — our habitat reflects how we live, the choices we make, our dreams, but also our fears, struggles, and hopes. It can be built of stone or leaves, shaped by silence or neighborhood life, filled with memories or imagined landscapes.

Behind every house lies a story.

To inhabit is not just to build. It's about coexisting with a place and adapting to a living balance.

More broadly, our homes are part of nature — that fragile, living fabric that connects people to the landscape.

This raises a vital question: What are we choosing to protect?

Beyond the walls, a world waiting to be told.

A story to invent, stitch by stitch : pour participer, imaginez une œuvre d'art textile en plusieurs couches en lien avec le thème Habitat. Impact visuel, qualité technique, créativité et respect du thème seront évalués par le jury.
